Comedian Wheeler Dies at 72

NEW YORK (AP) — Bert Wheeler was a teen-age vaudeville hooper playing in Omaha when he broke the ankle that started him on the road to a comedy career that spanned over half a century.

Wheeler, who died Thursday night of emphysema at 72, once recalled the fracture with the happy ending. His injury left a hole in the program and he volunteered to fill in for himself.

"At the next show," he said, "I crawled out through the curtain and did the whole act lying on my stomach. Later, I began to munch on an apple. Then I did it with a sandwich and I added a crying bit so I could wipe my eyes with the sandwich and munch on my handkerchief."

Cooperative Tapping of Ocean Wealth Is Planned by Johnson

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — White House officials say President Johnson soon will propose a greatly intensified cooperative effort by all nations to tap the staggering food and mineral wealth of the oceans.

The proposal, it was learned, will aim at:
— Focusing world attention on U.S. use of ocean research as an aid to achieving its international goals—such as seeking to promote world order by helping feed the hungry of all lands.
— Forestalling any "colonial race" by the nations to exploit riches of the deep-sea bed for individual gains.

White House oceanography advisers told The Associated Press Thursday this is the import of a little-noticed sentence in President Johnson's State of the Union message Wednesday night in which he said:

"This year, I shall propose that we launch, with other nations, an exploration of the ocean depths to tap its wealth, and its energy, and its abunwith years and vintage memories:

"When I was a lad women were still fun — perhaps for the last time in the history of the world."
"It was a pleasure then to be gallant and chivalrous to them. They spoke in voices murmurous and low. They did not feel it necessary to shout their merit, or to seek to be equal by acting unfair."

"Women today aren't so much a loving partner of man as they are his shrill competitor. They no longer suggest — they command."
"They are confused, uncertain and capricious in that uncertainty. They don't know for certain what they want, but they insist on having it anyway."

"They are afraid now to be merry or kind. They are born not only with a chip on their shoulder but also with a grudge in their heart."

"Women expect for a man to treat them as women while they are trying to take his job away from him."
"But in the business world they are neither a boon companion nor a half-fellow-well-met. They regard a man as merely something to take advantage of. Even during National Brotherhood Week how many career women do you know who both to take a man to lunch, and pick up his check?"

"If you do a woman a favor today she turns on you that Great Stone Female Stare, as if you were a transparent worm with no identity of your own and no purpose in life but to serve her immediate requirement."

"Oh, how gracious womanhood is to be; how ungracious is it now!"
As he finished his tirade a pretty stenographer in a mini-skirt tripped up to the water cooler.

"Hi there, all you handsome guys!" she said. She bent and took a drink. "Bye now, boys," she said as she walked away.
And five out of the five men at the water cooler unanimously voted that what was wrong with most women wasn't true of absolutely all of them.

dance."
It is estimated the oceans have such resources as 50 quadrillion tons of valuable minerals, immense oil reserves and the wherewithal to furnish cheap "fish flour" to meet the protein needs of the world's hungry many times over.

It was also learned by the AP that, partly with the proposed international step in mind, the President will shortly ask Congress for even more funds for U.S. marine sciences activities than the $462 million he requested in last year's budget message. Ten years ago only $21 million was budgeted for oceanography.

Congress eventually trimmed last year's request to $437 million, but the President intends to push anew for greater funds for ocean research, despite the Vietnam war and other demands, the sources said.
Exact details of the international sea-exploration proposal may be spelled out next month when the President transmits to Congress the second annual report of the National Council on Marine Resources and Engineering Development.

Dr. Edward Wenk, executive secretary of the council, told a newsman Johnson could be expected to call for:

1. More push than heretofore by governments of the various nations to promote and support ocean research on an international basis as a matter of national policy. The push now comes mainly from individual scientists.

2. A more even flow of collaboration among the nations in ocean research "rather than in an isolated expedition from time to time."

Says Johnson Would Run Everything

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Roy Reed, a former Arkansas Gazette reporter who now covers the White House for the New York Times, described President Johnson Thursday night as a man "with a compulsion to run everything."

Reed discussed the president's nature and the trials of covering a government with a credibility gap at a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional society for journalists.

The society initiated 14 new members into its Little Rock Professional Chapter before Reed spoke.

Reed, who was with the Gazette for nine years before he joined the Times in 1965, said White House correspondents see little of the president.

Most of their dealings are with George Christian, a press secretary, Reed said, and Christian is successful in giving reporters only the news that Johnson wants them to have.

"The president probably wants a press secretary who will put out as little information as he can without arousing reporters to armed insurrection," Reed said.

In discussing the president's sometimes strained relations with newsmen, Reed said that Johnson was "contemptuous of the routine needs of the press" and that some of the newsmen's resentment about this reflects on him.

For example, Reed said, the president recently flew around the world in 116 hours and newsmen following him got to sleep in a bed only four hours during that time.

"Lyndon Johnson slept in a bed every night on Air Force One," he said.

Reed said that Johnson had shown that he could be considerate of individuals, but that stories about his warm, human traits seldom are printed. He quoted another Times writer who said of Johnson, "He lacks the quality of making people want to understand and sympathize with him."

"LBJ gets along with the press the way Paul Van Dusen (a former state representative from Perry County) gets along with the press here (in Arkansas)," Reed said. "He dislikes and mistrusts reporters and the reporters respond in kind."

Reed said that charges that Johnson manipulates the news are probably unfair because all presidents have manipulated the news. "But LBJ is more severely criticized for this because of some quirks in his personality," Reed said.

He said that a story going around Washington has it that Johnson once asked Dean Acheson, a former secretary of increase was reported throughout the country—but many Democrats and a few Republicans said they believed people would go along with an increase that had strings attached.

"They want the war over with and they'd be willing to pay for it," said Rep. Kenneth J. Gray, D-Ill. "But there would have to be guarantees that when the war's over, the tax comes off."

"I generally found that I call the Great Society blues," said Rep. James C. Cleveland, R-N.H. "This was seen in the unhappiness over the prospect of higher taxes and travel restrictions."

Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., said the spending sentiment he found was contradictory: Don't raise taxes but increase federal services.

Worry among voters at home was reported by all the Congress members interviewed except one, Rep. William D. Hathaway, D-Maine. And he had a cheekful of tongue.

"I didn't find anyone upset about anything except the price of potatoes," Hathaway said. "This isn't apathy—just the stable lot that Maine people are."

Transplanted Heart Doing Just Fine

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — A doctor said Mike Kasperak's transplanted heart pulsed on in an "excellent manner" today after withstanding the effect of another major operation for intestinal bleeding.

After the three-hour surgery Thursday night, Dr. Harry Oberhelman Jr. said the stress on the 54-year-old retired steelworker's ailing liver probably was greater than on his borrowed heart. Oberhelman performed the operation.

Kasperak remained on the critical list.

Kasperak, who received the heart of a dead woman Jan. 6, had his gall bladder removed last Sunday. He has undergone three massive blood transfusions this week.

Even with this tremendous strain, Oberhelman and Dr. Norman E. Shumway, who performed the transplant, concurred in the statement that the heart function was normal.

Oberhelman, member of the team that has watched over Kasperak for nearly two weeks, said that in Thursday's operation the vagus nerve leading to the stomach was cut to check gastric juices that were complicating the bleeding.

The bleeding sites were closed and a tube inserted to decompress the stomach. The tube will remain for a couple of days.

Oberhelman described the process as "standard."

The surgeon also reported Kasperak's liver "looked better to the eye." He said he could not tell further until a report on a biopsy.

Kasperak, the fourth human heart transplant case, was said to be alert and awake after the operation.

In Cape Town, Philip Blair, 58, was reported making such satisfactory progress that his surgeon, Dr. Christiaan Barnard, may permit him to return home by Feb. 8.

state, why he was not liked and Acheson replied, "Mr. President, you're just not a likeable man."

Reed said that while Johnson is not very accessible in the White House, he can be approached personally rather easily when he is on a trip except on trips to the LBJ Ranch where he strictly guards his privacy.

LSD Blindness Admitted to Be a Hoax

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A Pennsylvania health official's "concern over the illegal use of LSD by children" apparently motivated him to invent a story that six Pennsylvania college students were blinded by the sun after taking the drug, Gov. Raymond P. Shafer says.

Shafer said Thursday he could offer no other reason why Dr. Norman Yoder, 53, state commissioner for the blind since 1959, fabricated the story.

Yoder, suspended from his job by Shafer, collapsed after revealing the hoax, a state official said, and was sent to a psychiatric hospital in Philadelphia.

The governor revealed the hoax to a news conference just a day after telling reporters he was convinced the incident occurred, based on information from Yoder's superior, Public Welfare Secretary Thomas W. Georges Jr.

Shafer said Yoder, legally blind since he was accidentally hit with a baseball bat 45 years ago, admitted the fabrication to Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett and Robert West, a Justice Department investigator.

Sennett said certain inconsistencies and inadequacies in the case records apparently doctored to fit the story—prompted the questioning of Yoder until he admitted the incident was false. Shafer added that a secretary in Yoder's office read the records to Yoder and he told her what alterations, insertions and deletions were necessary.

The story was first disclosed Jan. 12 in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington. It quoted Yoder as reporting the story originally in a letter to a U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare official last November. The AP obtained the letter, then contacted Yoder.

Yoder claimed the youths took the hallucinatory drug together some 18 months ago, then lay down in a grassy area near their college and stared, unblinking, at the sun. Yoder, an expert in rehabilitation of the blind, claimed the retinas of their eyes were destroyed.

The story touched off a widespread search by newsmen for identity of the students. Yoder had refused to identify the college or name the students, but said all had resumed academic studies at different schools.

State officials, including Georges, backed his story, as did Joseph Hunt, U.S. commissioner of rehabilitation services. Hunt said in Washington there was never any reason to doubt Yoder's word, that he was always "very careful and cautious in what he said."

Georges also noted Yoder's concern over LSD.

"He told me that he had attended a conference last summer where he heard a research ophthalmologist talk on the effects of LSD on the eye," Georges said. "He said he be-

Communists Back From Summit

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's top three leaders have returned from summit talks in Poland and East Germany, presumably on strategy for an international consultative conference of Communist parties scheduled for Budapest Feb. 26.

A brief official announcement Tuesday on the two-day visit to East Germany by Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorniy was the first official word on their whereabouts since an announcement Monday of their surprise weekend visit to Poland.

cuts scheduled to go into effect April 1.
When the administration proposed a 6 per cent surcharge last January it carried an effective date of last July 1.

But it wasn't until Aug. 3 that the President upped the request to 10 per cent and submitted it to Congress with an Oct. 1 effective date for individuals and a retroactive July 1 date for corporations.

The final word on any new effective date must come from Congress where there is still key opposition to a tax hike. Much of the opposition is in the House and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said prospects of Senate passage are good if it clears the House.

Two excise taxes are scheduled to decline on April 1—the 7 per cent manufacturers excise tax on automobiles to 2 per cent and the 10 per cent excise tax on telephone service to 1 per cent.

The auto tax would drop to 1 per cent next Jan. 1 while the telephone tax would be eliminated.

But under the President's program, the auto excise would remain at 7 per cent until July 1, 1969 and the drop to 1 per cent would be postponed until Jan. 1, 1970.

The telephone tax would remain at 10 per cent until July 1, 1969, and would be eliminated Jan. 1, 1970.

required by the present liens on the damaged...business structure..."

Gross reiterated his demand for a congressional investigation of the SBA. Both House and Senate have small business committees. The Senate Banking Committee also has a subcommittee on small business.

Gross said the figures demonstrate "just how profitable it is, when dealing with the Small Business Administration, if you are a Democrat party worker."

The Republican said the case is "a shocking example of how not to run a government agency. It is wrong, it is immoral, but it is not, I am convinced, unique."

"The SBA made hundreds of so-called disaster loans in Alaska last year. It had made hundreds, perhaps thousands more elsewhere in the United States since then. How many other times has the SBA loaned money on strictly political grounds?"

Moot told The AP, after reviewing the largest Fairbanks loans, he had found areas for tightening the SBA's disaster loan policies.

Shelley said he, the mayor and four directors were the luncheon guests of Roland St. John, operator of the Fort Smith City Lines. He said it was not a business meeting, but that he didn't ask Walker to leave.

"I never asked the boy to leave," Shelley said. "I never asked him to wait outside the door. I don't know whether he got up on the wrong side of bed or what."

Shelley said the press had not been informed of the meeting, but that no one had objected to Walker's presence.

"I walked in and said, 'I didn't know the press had been notified,' and then turned around to shake hands with other members of the council," Shelley said. "We thought it peculiar that the boy jumped up with his polaroid camera and left."

"When he and the two others returned, no one thought anything of it," Shelley said. "Then I saw it on TV and it sounded as though I had thrown him out."

NEW YORK (AP) — John W. Guider, 67, a New Hampshire lawyer who was defense counsel for Prime Minister Hideki Tojo in the Japanese war crimes trial after World War II, died Thursday. A specialist in communications law, Guider was owner and president of the Mt. Washington Television Co. in Portland, Maine.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Arthur H. Vandenberg, Jr., 60, son of the late U.S. senator from Grand Rapids, Mich., died Thursday. Though he never sought political office himself, Vandenberg served 13 years as his father's personal secretary and had a key role in the first presidential campaign organization of Dwight Eisenhower.

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — Glenn Mengle, 70, board chairman of the Brockway Glass Co. of Brockway, Pa., since 1958, died Wednesday night. Mengle, in the glass business for 46 years, had served as Brockway president for nine years before being named board chairman.

Will Probe Free Liquor for Army Party

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The secretary of the Army has been asked to order public disclosure of a colonel's reported request that liquor lobbyists and wholesalers provide 372 fifths of liquor free of charge for an Army party.

Samuel J. Archibald, who heads the University of Missouri's freedom of information center in Washington, wrote to Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor after an Army colonel ruled the liquor request, made by letter, should not be disclosed.

Col. J. A. Ingerski, adjutant general of the Military District of Washington, ruled that disclosure "would serve no useful purpose."

Archibald said the case is the first undertaken by the center since enactment of a freedom of information law which requires governmental agencies to make available all records not specifically exempted for such reasons as security and invasion of privacy.

According to Archibald, a colonel at Ft. Myer, Va., wrote the Washington area "in a postage-free envelope" asking donation of 372 fifths of liquor and 20 bottles of wine and bit-terms.

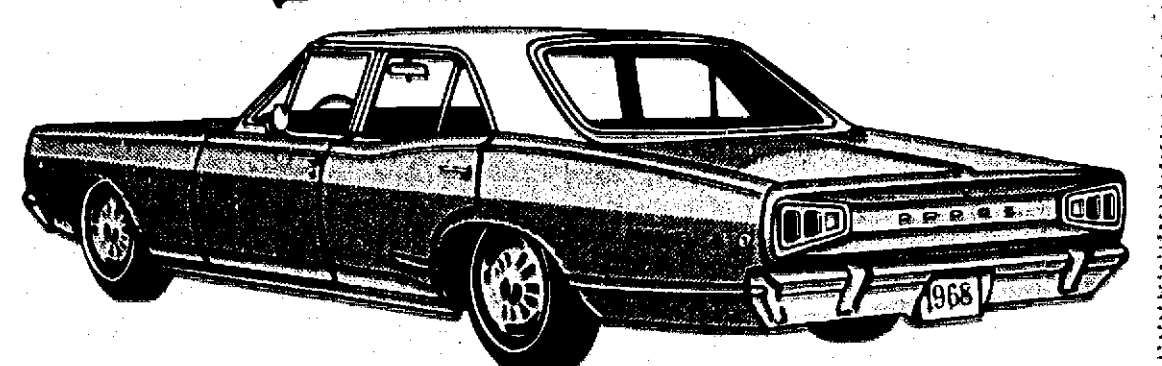

The liquor, Archibald said, was for 1,200 guests at a Valentine's Day Ball next month sponsored by the commanding general of the Military District of Washington.

The solicitation was later withdrawn in a second letter, he added.

A formal request for copies of the documents was brought to Ingerski but was turned down on grounds disclosure "would serve no useful purpose," Archibald wrote Resor.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The form of Bob Hope's annual television report of his Christmas entertainment tour varies little from year to year. And nobody, particularly the home viewers, wants it to change.

In the 90 minutes of Thursday evening's NBC special, Hope was, of course, in the middle of things. As usual he swung his golf club, wore military hats at cocky angles and always had a wisecrack on his lips.

Then there were the pretty girls who are much in evidence each year in the Hope troupe. This time it was film star Raquel Welch, dancer Elaine Dunn, Madeline Hartog-Bel of Peru, who is Miss World, and singer Barbara McNair. They were rewarded by the wolf whistles as they came on stage in brief costumes or pretty dresses. Occasionally they varied their acts by cavorting with some GIs from the audience.

Hope and company, traveling by plane and helicopter, presented 22 shows in 15 days, a couple of them on the decks of carriers and more than one within gunshot of the enemy. The program was a collection of bits and pieces from the shows. Although the visiting performers were officially the stars of the Hope television program, the real stars were, as always, the thousands and thousands of soldiers, sailors and marines in his audiences.

As the years go by, camera crews on the Hope junkets get better. This year some of the photography was stunning. And while the comedian was on some improvised stage making local, or topical, jokes or kidding the brass, the camera was often wandering over the faces in the audience, pausing here for a moment as a man broke into hearty laughter.

Sometimes it looked as if Hope was playing to an army—even the hills around a base seemed covered with military men, and they clustered at odd points on the ships like swarms of bees. They enjoyed Hope's cracks about conditions at home, but from the sound of laughter, they appreciated even more his jokes about local conditions and customs.

There was innovation this season. The windup of the program showed members of the troupe visiting informally the wounded in hospitals. And Hope concluded the show with a serious expression of hope for peace.

It was, as usual, a moving program.

After all these years as a regular on the daytime game show, "To Tell the Truth," Tom Poston is now off the panel. His place will be filled by various performers.

Mark Goodson, producer of the show, said that the program had undergone a radical change of format, had introduced some new faces, and had improved its ratings which had been dropping.

Allen Ludden, formerly of Goodson's "Password," which CBS recently replaced with a soap opera, will soon be seen as host of a weekly, prime-time syndicated game show, "Win with the Stars," which will start with a lineup of more than 40 stations.

Recommended tonight: "World of Horses," NBC, 7:30-8:30 EST, documentary on the place of the horse in modern society, with Lorne Greene narrating; Telephone Hour, NBC, 10-11, a study of the career of violinist Yehudi Menuhin.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fifteen years ago today, television's most famous baby was born. His name: Desiderio Arnaz IV.

Today the son of Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz is a strapping teen-ager who looms taller than his father and — according to his proud pa — can beat a better bong.

It was on Jan. 19, that the birth of young Desi coincided with the arrival of a son to the Ricky Ricardos of "I Love Lucy," the nation's most popular television show.

"The story made headlines in every newspaper in the country," recalled Desi Sr. "I never realized how big a story it was until I played golf with President Eisenhower about four years ago down at Palm Desert. 'He asked me how my son was, and I was surprised he knew about Desi. 'Do it' said like. 'That little so-and-so knocked me off the front pages on the day before my inauguration.'"

Time passed, and Lucille and Desi broke up as an acting team and pair. He carried on the Desilu empire, then retired and handed the presidency to his ex-wife. Now she has sold out the studios, and he is back in television as producer-director of "The Mothers-in-Law." Both have remarried but they remain friendly.

"Desi is a fine boy; Lucille has done a good job of bringing him up," said the elder Arnaz in his office at the studio he once owned. "And he's doing fine in the music world. I think he earned more money than I did last year."

The lad is part of the rock 'n' roll team of Dino, Desi and Billy, which made a hit with the young crowd three years ago and remains a popular act. The other members are Dino Martin, son of Dean, and Billy Henshe.

"Even though we don't live together," said Arnaz, "I talk to Desi every day on the phone. He asks me for advice on his music career and other things. 'Dean and I and the other father have an agreement about the boys. As long as they keep up their grades and play dates only on their school holidays,

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Singer Eartha Kitt, in an emotional White House confrontation with Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, said U.S. youth are rebelling because of the Vietnam war.

Young men don't want to be sent off to 'get shot' in a war they don't understand, Miss Kitt told the First Lady at a Thursday luncheon. "So they rebel in the streets and take pot," she added, explaining to Mrs. Johnson: "In case you don't know the expression, that's marijuana."

Miss Kitt earlier confronted President Johnson, who dropped in to greet the 50 women Mrs. Johnson had gathered for a discussion of crime in the streets. Johnson told the women he hoped they would go home "excited enough to provide some leadership for programs we're trying so hard to develop."

At times Miss Kitt faced Mrs. Johnson directly across the dining table and the scene was electric. Mrs. Johnson sat through it all, appearing disturbed but maintaining outward control. Finally she rose to regain command of her emotionally shattered luncheon.

She told the Negro singer: "I have not lived the background you have. I cannot speak as passionately or as well, but we must keep our eyes, our hearts and our energies fixed on constructive aims to do something that will make this a happier, healthier, better educated land."

The President said it might cut down juvenile delinquency if all parents asked themselves at midnight where their children were.

As the President prepared to depart, Miss Kitt stepped in his path and asked, "What do we do about delinquent parents who have to go to work and can't spend time with their children? What do you do with the children?"

Pausing, Johnson told her quietly the 1967 Social Security Act provided millions of dollars for day-care centers. He said he recognizes the problem and left the women with the suggestion that they "tell me what you think."

Miss Kitt was not among three scheduled speakers at the luncheon. But when the First Lady called for discussion the singer rose and made an impassioned plea on behalf of American youth and their parents, who, she said, couldn't come to talk to the President and his wife.

"One of the speakers talked about walking through the gutters—I lived in the gutters," she said.

She said she didn't intend to offend Mrs. Johnson or the other women, but: "I am here to say what is in my heart."

Youngsters are angry, said Miss Kitt, "because their parents are angry, and their parents are angry because they're so highly taxed and because there is a war going on and we do not understand why."

She said she was a mother and knew "the feeling of a baby coming out of my guts."

"No mother wants to work to educate her child only to have him snatched away and sent off to Vietnam," she said.

Miss Kitt said youth have the feeling they must enjoy life now because they may not be here tomorrow and believe it doesn't pay to be a "good guy."

THRIFT STORE CHRISTMAS SHOPPER NOT APPRECIATED
Dear Helen: I always suspected this relative gave me gifts from the Thrift Shop. Her presents—she even has the nerve to mention how much money they cost her—are shabby and tasteless.

Last November I cleaned out my attic and sent all my unwanted stuff to charity. Some of it was bric-a-brac she had given me on long-past Christmases.

You won't believe this, but when I opened her present, there was the gosh-awful vase I'd donated to the Thrift Shop. But the real stopper is—it's the same vase she gave me first three years ago! Evidently her taste doesn't change, though her memory is short.

Don't feel sorry for a poor little old lady on relief. This gal is loaded. She's also the first to make slighting remarks about "cheap" gifts from other relatives.

She takes the other newspaper, so she won't read my letter. Or should I send it to her with note saying, "Let's stop exchanging gifts!" — JUNK COLLECTOR

Bobcats Journey to Magnolia

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports writer

It will be a conflict but not cocky Hope Bobcat team tonight, as the boys journey to Magnolia for a date with the hot Panthers, in a game to be preceded by junior high and "B" team games.

Each of the Bobcats is remembering the 50-40 loss to Magnolia two weeks back, and Coach Joe Austin's charges must be at their best to win over the home team, who is already 2-0 in AAA.

The Bobkittens, after a few weeks to work hard in practice, will try to pull off a reversal of Magnolia's 50-35 verdict earlier. But the Kittens remain short in the backcourt with the loss of Buddy Ingram to a knee injury. After the great job he has done so far, you can expect Gaylord Solomon to have the Bobkittens ready and growing by gametime this evening.

In the leadoff battle the respective "B" teams will meet from the two schools in a game scheduled for 5:30 p.m. The Hope "B" Lizards will be short, because only 15 players now remain to distribute on the "A" and "B" clubs. This could result in the cancellation of several junior varsity games, since the rules state that a player may only participate in five quarters for the night.

Some good roundball should come about before the evening is very old, and all of the Hope teams could use the victory over Magnolia. Everything starts at 5:30 p.m., but if you can't see all three contests got down to Magnolia to see as many as you can, because your support is appreciated by all the teams.

NFL Players Recognized by Owners

NEW YORK (AP) — National Football League players, with a strengthened bargaining line, have received recognition as a union from the owners and will huddle with them next month.

"No date has been set," Detroit guard John Gordy, president of the Players' Association, told a press conference Thursday, "but it probably will be the middle of February."

Dan Schulman of Chicago, the legal counsel for the association, admitted that one of the plays the organization will carry into the meeting is the threat of a strike to gain its demands.

"It's always possible, but I don't conceive of such a thing at the moment," the attorney said. "We are not out to hurt the game, disrupt the league or interfere with its operation, and we do not intend to harm the general public."

Schulman, Gordy, former association president and former player Bill Howton, quarterback Gary Wood of the New Orleans Saints, and Malcolm Kennedy, the association's business administrator, met with the press to explain what the organization is all about.

The players decided last week not to join an outside union such as the Teamsters, and instead to strengthen the Association. To do so, they had to identify themselves as a union.

"We are not back in business at the same old stand—we have a mandate (from the players)," Gordy said.

NFL owners, apparently finding a strengthened players' association more acceptable than the Teamsters, recognized it by agreeing to meet with the players.

Among the players' demands are increased salary minimums from $5,500 to $15,000 a year, $500 a player for each pre-season game, a signed contract before reporting to training camp, review of player splits on post-season games, and plans for an increased players' benefit fund.

Gordy said the union would not attempt to negotiate personal contracts, but would back the principle that a player can be represented by a lawyer or business manager.

He expressed hope for an All-Star game between the National and American leagues to build up the players' fund. He also hoped ultimately to bring the AFL players into the organization.

Fights Last Night

PORTLAND, Maine — Jimmy McDermott, 110 lb, knocked out Evaristo Ramos, 110 lb, in the first round. Ramos, 4, light-heavyweights, BALTIMORE — Ralph Palladin, Baltimore, outpointed Dave "Sugar" Wyatt, Richmond, Va., welterweights.

LOS ANGELES — Jose Luis Pimental, 120 1/2, Los Angeles, knocked out Waymon Gray, 126, Pacoima, Calif., 5.

Thrillers in Play at Saratoga

In the Saratoga Invitational Tournament last night the Saratoga Seniors beat Mineral Springs but they had to do it in an overtime, 62-60.

Johnny McJunkins was the big gun of the Saratoga attack with 30 points. George Stewart made 24 for Saratoga.

Blevins also edged out a victory over Bodew in another close one. Wendell Hoover tossed in 19 points and Quinton Moss had 15 for Bodew.

In the only girls game of the night Kirby had little trouble in downing Foreman 60 to 44. But Bea Oglesby of Foreman was high with 25 points. Joyce Parker made 16 for Kirby.

The Boys bracket Friday pairs Murfreesboro and Spring Hill while the girls bracket pairs Mineral Springs and Murfreesboro; Fouke and Spring Hill.

Weather Big Issue in Tournament

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Tournament officials hoped today the weather would help unravel some of the confusion it caused as the $125,000 Kaiser International Open golf tournament moved through its second round.

Frost delayed the start by 90 minutes Thursday and darkness caught 39 golfers on the Silverado Country Club's north course. Most had just finished their first nine.

Among those finishing their second nine today was Gay Brewer, who opened with a 33, three below par on the par-72, new 6,849-yard course.

Dave Marr, Rex Baxter and Howie Johnson led 19 others in breaking par among those who finished the first round Thursday. Each shot a 68.

Bunched a stroke behind were Don January, Jacky Cupit, Hawaiian Ted Makalena, Bert Greene and Jim Welchers.

The top 70 and those who tie will survive tonight's cut. The Kaiser, first official PGA tournament this year, had 146 entries at the start.

The top three scorers all got an early start and finished about 2 p.m. Most of the crowd of 8,350 stuck it out in the chilly darkness. Billy Casper's 14-foot birdie putt at the 18th in the dark helped him salvage a 75.

Johnny Pott, who defeated Casper and Bruce Devlin in a playoff at the Crosby Open last Sunday, wasn't much better on opening day with a 74.

Arnold Palmer finished strong to gain a 70 after a pair of bogeys.

Both Coaches Pleased With Their Stars

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Coaches Lou Saban and Joe Collier are both pleased with the way their squads are shaping up for the American Football League's All-Star game Sunday.

"I certainly have no complaints," said West Coach Saban. "They have worked hard and prepared themselves. All I have to do is make sure everyone executes the plays well and avoids the errors which would destroy the game."

Collier said his East team has plenty of talent to hold its own in spite of the West's nucleus of 11 players from the champion Oakland Raiders.

"Anything can happen in an All-Star game," Collier said. To prove it, he called attention to last year's game at Oakland, which the East won 30-23 after trailing 23-2.

Houston to Play UCLA Saturday

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — Law Alcindor remained the tallest question mark in America today as UCLA and Houston finished preparations for their showdown in the Astrodome Saturday night.

Alcindor, the 7-foot-1 rallying point of the awesome Bruins, sat it out Thursday night, a patch covering his injured left eye, as his UCLA teammates rolled over Portland 93-69 in Los Angeles.

It was the 47th straight triumph for Wooden's Wonders, labeled the finest college team ever put together but facing their sternest challenge yet in the powerful Houston Cougars.

"Physically, Houston is probably the strongest team we'll meet," said UCLA Coach John Wooden, who still doesn't know whether Alcindor will be able to play.

"It's all up to the doctors," Wooden said. "He'll have another examination today in Houston. If he's not ready, he won't play. I don't think the doctor will let him unless he can remove the eye patch 24 hours prior to the game."

"I want him to be in there," Houston Coach Guy Lewis said. "If he's not there, the game won't be as meaningful."

With or without big Lew, the game is a sellout, with a record crowd of 55,000 assured for the clash of the nation's top two college basketball teams.

It's also scheduled for national television coverage on the TV Sports Network. The game starts at 9 p.m. EST.

Alcindor, Player of the Year last season as a sophomore, can't be at peak condition. The only practice he's had since injuring the eye a week ago is a couple of laps around the court and a few half-hearted shots at the basket.

He missed both of UCLA's last two games but told campus friends Thursday that the eye felt better and he hoped to play Saturday.

Thinks All Bowl Players Just Great

LOS ANGELES (AP) — How does a football coach go about picking the best from the best? It isn't easy, agree Don Shula of the Baltimore Colts and Otto Graham of the Washington Redskins, who will guide the West and East, respectively, in the National Football League's Pro Bowl game Sunday.

The mentors announced their starting line-ups today for a contest in which starters is merely a term and not a classification of talent.

"We have so many great players that all of them will get every opportunity to play," said Shula.

Graham, no stranger to the Pro Bowl, agreed, Otto, as a star for the Cleveland Browns, appeared in the first five Pro Bowl games, starting in 1951 when he won Player-of-the-game honors.

Baltimore's Johnny Unitas will lead off for the West and alternate with the Los Angeles Rams' Roman Gabriel. Shula said he hopes to alternate the two by quarter unless either has a drive going at the end of a period.

Graham said he will start Don Meredith of the Dallas Cowboys, with Fran Tarkenton of the New York Giants alternating.

Unitas will have familiar faces aboard on offense, notably Willie Richardson as flanker, John Mackey at tight end and Bob Vogel at left tackle. He'll also have a great pass target in Green Bay's Boyd Dowler.

Meredith's Cowboy teammates on offense will be Bob Hayes and Don Perkins to run and catch passes, and Ralph Neely operating at right tackle, Washington's Charley Taylor and Cleveland's Leroy Kelly.

This is the 18th annual Pro Bowl. The underdog East scored upsets the past two years but the West has won 10 of the 17 played.

Hope Girls Easily Win at Gurdon

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports writer

Striking with their usual second-period ferocity, the Hope Lady Cats easily trotted into the semifinals of the Gurdon Invitational Tournament by flooring Carthage 70-45 last night at Gurdon.

The victory was the eighth in a row for the sky-high Lady Cats, who are now 16-4 on the year. Tonight the girls face Willsville in the semis at 8:30 p.m., but Hope appeared truly invincible against a hard-fighting Carthage team.

And it was another wild second quarter for the Lady Cats, as the Hope forwards nearly went berserk in racking up 51 points by halftime, which is only a field goal below the team's season scoring average for an entire ball game. With the reserves in for the second half, though, things settled down as the Lady Cats coasted once more.

A three-point play by Carol Anthony wound up Hope's opening spurt, with the Lady Cats ahead 9-2 and the quarter half gone. Then the Hope guards began having a few problems, fouling in particular, as Donna Byers picked up three quick personal and had to be replaced. Suddenly the Lady Cats were struggling to hold their margin, and it took a pair of charity shots by Anthony after the buzzer to put Hope on top 23-16 at the quarter.

Now it was time for the explosion, and the local guards led it off by simply not allowing Carthage to score for four minutes. During this era things opened up under the basket for the forwards, and they responded by sacking 14 points in a row. The hectic pace kept up as Hope's side of the scoreboard seemed to be moving without stop.

When the horn stopped it all at the half, the Lady Cats had an insurmountable 51-24, and were hitting on 58 per cent from the field. Carol Anthony already had gotten 29, but she was to play no more, as the rest of the squad got their half of action for the second straight evening.

Things were about even throughout the last half, with a late spurge giving the Lady Cats 70 points for the first time this year. Credit must also be given to the Lady Cat guards, and when the All-Tourney team is announced, it could very justifiably include all three starters for the Hope "defensive unit."

With all her action in the first half, Carol Anthony led Hope with her 29 points, but Kathryn Coleman was also above her average with 18 points. Gail Hartsfield was next with 11, and Mary Beth Millican, once again showing her potential, netted eight. To add up 70 Debbie Powell barked in four. Mary Huffman had 20, Betty Wyllie 15, and Sandy Crowder 10 for Carthage.

Everyone is urged to be present for tonight's match with Willsville at 8:30 p.m., but if you wish to follow the Bobcats to Magnolia, there will be a taped playback of the Lady Cat game broadcast over KXAR on Saturday morning.

They were also nominated to start. Gabriel can coordinate with his Ram teammates, flanker Lester Josephson and flanker Bernie Casey, along with Mel Farr, the Detroit Lions' Rookie-of-the-Year.

Tarkenton will have one of his favorite teammates, speedy Homer Jones, as an end on offense.

This is the 18th annual Pro Bowl. The underdog East scored upsets the past two years but the West has won 10 of the 17 played.

Williamson, a former star split end at the University of Alabama, coached such outstanding Crimson Tide receivers as Ray Perkins and Dennis Homan.

Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant reportedly persuaded Williamson on two occasions to turn down Broyles' offer but the third effort landed him for the Packers.

Williamson played football at Alabama in 1961 and 1962, had a brief trial with the Boston Patriots of the American Football League in 1963 and joined Bryant's coaching staff in 1964.

Congress May Enter Athletic Fuss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Congress has threatened to crack some heads in solving the dispute over track and field, but has been warned that the effort could result in the disqualification of the entire American Olympic team.

In Washington, Thursday, Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., called for congressional action to end the feud between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

"I don't believe," Javits said, "that the sports fans of this country will sit idly by as our outstanding prospects for the Olympic Games are used by these organizations to further their own selfish motives."

Javits' action seconded that of Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., who introduced a bill that would ban the disqualification of any amateur athlete from competition because he had engaged in a meet staged by a rival organization.

But in New York, Avery Brundage, chairman of the International Olympic Committee, warned that any congressional action could jeopardize the entire American Olympic team.

"If the government tries to dictate a settlement," Brundage said, "the entire Olympic team might be ruled ineligible."

"One of our basic rules is that the various sports teams be selected by independent amateur federations. We don't permit any sort of government regulations."

Currently, the AAU and NCAA are fighting over a track meet scheduled for New York on Feb. 9, to be staged by the U.S. Track and Field Federation, an arm of the NCAA.

Several non-collegians are entered in the meet, which is not sanctioned by the AAU, and that organization has threatened to suspend every athlete who competes in it.

A federal panel that has been mediating the dispute for more than two years is expected to hand down a decision before that meet, but both organizations have lately said they might not be bound by it.

Broyles Has Another New Assistant

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas announced Thursday the hiring of Richard Williamson, 26, as an assistant coach in charge of offensive ends and receivers.

Williamson, a former star split end at the University of Alabama, coached such outstanding Crimson Tide receivers as Ray Perkins and Dennis Homan.

Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant reportedly persuaded Williamson on two occasions to turn down Broyles' offer but the third effort landed him for the Packers.

Williamson played football at Alabama in 1961 and 1962, had a brief trial with the Boston Patriots of the American Football League in 1963 and joined Bryant's coaching staff in 1964.

Skating Champ Opens Bid for Fifth Title

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Peg Fleming, America's No. 1 hope for a gold medal in Figure Skating at the Winter Olympics in France next month, opens her bid today for a fifth straight national title.

The 19-year-old Miss Fleming, twice World champion, competed in the compulsory figures competition of the women's senior singles division. She faces a field which includes the nation's second and third ranked distaff figure skater, Albertina (Tina) Noyes of the Skating Club of New York and Jennie Walsh of the Los Angeles Figure Skating Club.

The four day nationals got underway Thursday with a mild upset in the compulsory figures competition of the men's singles. Tim Wood of Bloomfield, Mich., 19-year-old pre-law student at John Carroll University, skated to a slim lead over Scott Allen of the Skating Club of New York and defending champion Gary Visconti of the Detroit Skating Club.

Wood, a teammate of Visconti's, scored 75.79 in the six compulsory figures as he broke up

Lobos Take Over Cage Spotlight

By TED MEIER

The unbeaten New Mexico Lobos took over the spotlight in college basketball Thursday night even though top-ranked UCLA won its 47th straight game.

The Lobos, sixth-ranked to UCLA in The Associated Press poll, made it 15 in a row by whipping the fifth-ranked Utah Redskins 72-66 before 14,855 at Albuquerque.

With big Lew Alcindor sitting out his second straight game because of his eye injury only 8,311 watched UCLA's easy 93-69 victory over Portland at Pauley Pavilion in Los Angeles. It was UCLA's final game before its heralded meeting with second-ranked Houston in the Astrodome Saturday night.

With Edgar Lacey and Lucien Allen throwing in 24 and 20 points, respectively, UCLA took an early 20-7 lead and had little trouble with the Pilots.

In contrast, New Mexico had to come from behind in the second half to beat Utah. The Lobos were five points down before they ran up an 11-point lead at 59-48, then held off a late bid by the Utes.

Merv Jackson, Utah's scoring ace, flipped in 25 points.

Jackson explained, "We had a lot of open shots, but we hesitated with our shots and that hurt us as well as that zone press of theirs late in the second half."

Dick McGuire, former coach of the pro New York Knicks and now a scout for them, watched the game and praised New Mexico as a "sound, well-coached club." Ron Nelson, with 15 points, led the balanced Lobo attack.

Harry Hall's 23 points led Wyoming to an 81-70 triumph over Brigham Young. In other home court victories, Colorado State U. whipped Seattle 88-79, Denver toppled Utah State 100-80, Tennessee Tech thumped Belmont 106-71 and Miami, Fla., edged Jacksonville 76-75.

On the road, Miami of Ohio snapped a four-game losing streak by beating Xavier of Ohio 72-65 behind a 22-point performance by Phil Snow.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jimmy Turner scored 29 points and Choice Garrett 26 Thursday night as Philander-Smith College posted a 106-103 basketball victory over Hendrix College.

Tommy Watson led Hendrix with 21 points.

were equally sharp with their passes.

The same was true of the est's Darryle Lamonica of Oakland and Len Dawson of Kansas City.

Lamonica and Namath are scheduled for starting assignments, but both coaches plan to make use of all 33 players on their squads.

The squads will polish their timing in brief practice sessions Saturday to wind up preparations.

Orr Out, So Toronto Stops Bruins

The Toronto Maple Leafs, who took advantage of the National Hockey League All-Star injury list are also taking the same advantage of the Boston Bruins.

Orr, Boston's super-sophomore defenseman, suffered a muscle bruise early in the game. With Orr still out, Toronto rushed to Boston and stopped the Bruins 4-2, tightening the East Division race.

In the West Division, Philadelphia increased its lead to eight points at St. Paul-Minneapolis by halting the North Stars 4-2 while Los Angeles climbed into second with a 3-2 home ice triumph over Pittsburgh.

Boston managed leads of 1-0 and 2-1 on goals by Ken Hodge and John McKenzie, but appeared disorganized with Orr, who will be out about a week.

Toronto goals by Wayne Carleton and Bob Pulford kept the Leafs even in the first period before Ron Ellis' 17th goal broke the last deadlock midway through the second period.

Jim Pappin added a power play clincher, his 12th, later in the session as fourth-place Toronto moved within four points of the top and kept Boston from tying Chicago in first place.

Philadelphia took a 3-1 lead early in the second period on goals by Gary Dornhoefer, Brit Selby and Bill Sutherland in a game marked by 22 penalties and delayed 15 minutes to clear the ice of debris. Lou Angotti got the other Flyers' goal, along with two assists.

The North Stars, who attended funeral services for teammate Bill Masterton in the afternoon, never were in the game as they fell into a tie for third place with Pittsburgh. Masterton was fatally injured in a game Saturday night.

Gordon Labossiere's second goal of the game at 18:07 of the final period broke a tie and carried the Kings into second place.

Labossiere had given the Kings a 2-1 lead in the second period before Keith McCreary tied it in the last two minutes of the stanza. Labossiere also assisted on Bob Wall's goal in the first period. Billy Dea scored for Pittsburgh in the period, along with two assists.

Burnett Drafted by Cincinnati

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bobby Burnett, the 1966 American Football League Rookie of the Year, said Thursday "there's no reason in the world why I can't come back and play 100 per cent next season" for the Cincinnati Bengals.

Burnett, an All-Southwest Conference tailback for Arkansas in 1965, said he "considered it a compliment" he was drafted by Cincinnati, despite the leg injury he suffered in mid-November while playing for the Buffalo Bills.

Four Taken Into State Hall of Fame

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Houston columnist Orris Frank took potshots at various persons but Jack Pickens and former Gov. Orval Faubus came in for the heaviest barrage.

The showcase for Frank's talents was the 11th annual Arkansas Hall of Fame.

Pickens, a contractor, is the president of the Hall of Fame and a Democrat who supported Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller in 1966.

"Pickens' wife should be coach of the year," Frank said. "She has done the most with less."

"I'm going to rush up the program tonight. I just heard Pickens built this hotel and I don't know how long it'll last," said Frank.

"How about that Faubus?" Frank asked. "Anybody who can build a house in Huntsville, Ark., and charge a $1.25 to see it... we salute you."

"I understand Jack here has a pass... the way you (Faubus) operate it probably cost him $10,000."

"Gov. Rockefeller didn't make it," Frank noted. "Col. Lynn Davis told Mr. Rockefeller that nothing would be open in Hot Springs after 8 p.m. at night."

"Either that or it was payday for Jim Johnson and Mr. Rockefeller went off to meet him," Frank continued.

Frank's remarks, however, did not overshadow the importance of the event for Howard "Red" Hickey, Elmer Smith, Mrs. J. H. "Bo" Rowland or Mrs. Gene "Sodie" Davidson. Mrs. Rowland and Mrs. Davidson accepted the Hall of Fame plaques for their late husbands.

Glen Rose, former basketball coach at the University of Arkansas, introduced Hickey, one of his former players.

"He was an average student," Rose said. "But that's all they expected those days. Now if we had had those mind-expanding drugs..."

Hickey, former coach of the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League, told of a coaching experience in Texas.

"I thought this one referee was giving us a bad deal and I called him a few names," said Hickey. "Finally, he walked off five yards against us."

Hickey said he asked the referee what the penalty was for.

"Coaching from the sidelines," was the reply.

"Now, I know you're stupid," Hickey answered. "That's 15 yards."

"Not the way you coach."

Gene Stallings, head football coach at Texas A&M, introduced Elmer Smith, his top assistant. Stallings, who played for Smith at Texas A&M, said the first thing he asked when he learned he might be offered the top spot at A&M was if he could hire Smith.

Stallings said Smith was so unselfish that he spent a couple of nights in a hospital with some of the A&M players prior to this year's Cotton Bowl game. Stallings said that after various attempts had failed to supply the players and Smith with some entertainment he was given an index of operations for them to return.

According to Stallings he returned the next day to find Smith and the players betting on the cards.

"Eld Hargett said he had two pair — broken legs and broken arms but Billy Hobbs said he had a full house—three tons of tomatoes and two appendectomies."

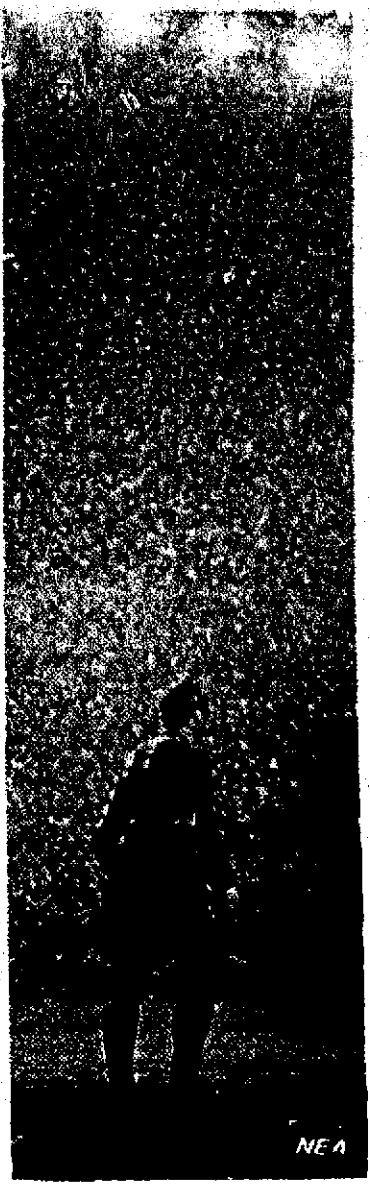

"Coach Smith said he had a royal flush—five enemies," said Stallings.

Fred Russell, sports editor at a Nashville, Tenn., newspaper, recapped Rowland's achievements, including his touch as an after-dinner speaker.

Russell said he once asked Rowland why he always used notes and that Rowland told him he once forgot them. "He said he used the quote 'I never met a man I didn't like and couldn't remember whether it belonged to Will Rogers or Elizabeth Taylor.'"

Bob Cheyne, sports publicity director at Arkansas, recapped Davidson's career as a Razorback and called him "one of the most gifted athletes ever to wear an Arkansas uniform" and "one who left an indelible mark on the Southwest football fields."

Paul "Bear" Bryant, head football coach at the University of Alabama, a member of the Arkansas Hall of Fame and the Bullets Seem to Have the Most Problems

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Earl the Pearl has his problems, but they're nothing compared to those of the Baltimore Bullets.

Earl Monroe spent most of Thursday denying reports that he would refuse to go into the Army if drafted, then got 26 points against St. Louis in a National Basketball Association game at Greensboro, N.C., but the Hawks won 119-116.

Monroe was originally quoted in a Baltimore newspaper about his upcoming draft physical, but later denied he would refuse to serve if drafted.

The Bullets are deep in the Eastern Division cellar with 16 victories and 30 defeats.

The Hawks won on a late basket and two free throws by Len Wilkens after a basket by Don Ohl had tied the score. Zelmo Beaty led St. Louis with 35 points, while Ohl had 32 for the Bullets.

Dox, Free Agent, Signs With Tigers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
DETROIT (AP) — Don Fox, son of Pete Dox, former Detroit outfielder, signed with the Tigers Thursday as a free agent. He is a right-handed pitcher.

N. Zealand Dr. Buy More Horses

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Doctor A.R. Reyes of Manila who Thursday bought 11 horses at New Zealand's national yearling sales, purchased eight more today. His highest focal point of various legends, was picked on by Frank and Stallings.

"The Aggies are respected, at peace with the world and not on probation," said Frank to Stallings. "Bear, you wouldn't know them."

Stallings said that Bryant complained prior to the Cotton Bowl game that his hotel suite was too cold. Stallings said Bryant finally hopped into bed and cuddled up to his wife.

"My god, your feet are cold," Stallings quoted Mrs. Bryant as saying.

"Come on, honey, you can call me Paul," was Bryant's supposed reply.

Frank introduced Orville Henry, sports editor of the Arkansas Gazette, as the man Arkansas Coach Broyles "sits up with and consoles when the Razorbacks lose."

Frank also identified George Cole, assistant athletic director.

"I don't like to work either," Frank said.

Frank identified himself as the most henpecked man in the world.

"Everytime I go out in the yard to get the paper it counts as a night out against me," he said.

Rose congratulated Frank on his performance.

"I don't know whether you had more assurance because this was your second time or because Israel defeated the Arabs," Rose said.

Whatever the reason, Frank was there and he made the show go.

A Mistake

— and the irate community must know where to place the blame. The police seek the guilty and the judge demands to know whom he is. Now, witnesses join with the officers and the judge gets the case. He arises to pronounce judgment, but another Judge takes over. The Heavenly Judge speaks: "First, I condemn the father who fished, or played golf on Sunday instead of attending Sunday School and church worship with his son, where he might have learned the values of integrity and reverence. "Secondly, I condemn the mother who didn't have time to teach him, 'Now I lay me down to sleep.' This mother actually committed this crime when she satisfied her own immediate pleasure at the sacrifice of her duties to her son and her home." When will fathers and mothers realize that more lasting good may come from teaching the minds and hearts of their young, than in the providing of clothes, bread and shelter? Worship with them in church!

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

World of Business Has Plenty of Room
DETROIT (AP) - The world of business has plenty of room for men and women with "open minds and wide and compassionate humanity," Virgil E. Boyd, Chrysler Corp. president, told 86 outstanding high school seniors Wednesday night.
"We really don't need a lot of bearded and unbathed hippies telling us that we've got the world so messed up the only way out is to plant the whole thing in petunias," he said.

WIDOWS, ORPHANS ELIGIBLE
By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Publications
WASHINGTON - (NEA) - Some five million survivors of deceased workers are drawing Social Security payments in this country.
The face value of the survivorship insurance program is said to range upwards of $700 billion. About 95 per cent of mothers and children in the nation have protection under it.
There was a time when the whole government burden for caring for dependent children fell upon out-and-out welfare programs. But this has changed.
In mid-1940, only 18,000 orphans under age 18 were drawing Social Security survivors' benefits. The total now is in the range of two million. Meantime, the number of orphans getting strictly welfare payments under the aid-to-dependent-children program has been slashed in half. (For other reasons, this latter program has grown, over-all.)
Social Security officials stress that maintaining Americans' incomes in old age is not just a matter of retirement benefits but is, crucially, a question of survivors' insurance for widows. They can get little other help than that provided by Social Security.
If these women have worked, they tend usually to have been "secondary earners" who have left the labor market at a fairly early stage.
Under present law, widows who are not disabled can begin drawing Social Security survivors' benefits as early as age 60. But if they apply for this payment before age 62, their benefits are somewhat reduced.
At 62, the widow of a worker who was properly insured under Social Security is entitled to 82 and one-half per cent of her husband's "primary benefit" - what he would have received if he had lived to retire at age 65.
If she decides to start collecting at 60, she gets only 71 and one-half per cent of her late husband's primary benefit. If she chooses age 61, she gets 77 per cent.
Of course, if the widow has an unmarried child under 18 or a disabled child who suffered the disability before age 18, she can begin getting survivors' benefits even earlier than age 60.
Social Security has another name for these, however - mothers' benefits. They amount to 75 per cent of her deceased husband's primary benefit. And, unless she has in her care a disabled child who qualifies under the law, the mothers' benefits stop when her youngest child reaches 18.
Thereafter she cannot resume collecting Social Security checks until she herself becomes 60 - provided also that she is not married at the time.
A widow aged 60 or older does not lose all survivors' benefits if she remarries. But, again, her payments may drop. Ordinarily entitled to 82 and one-half per cent of her husband's basic benefit if she waits until she is 62 to collect, she will find this percentage cut to 50 if she is remarried.
On the other hand, if she rates more on the basis of her new husband's Social Security record, she will get the higher amount.
When a worker dies, his parents can also collect survivors' benefits. To qualify, a parent has to be at least 62 and must have received at least half of his financial support from the deceased worker. The payment to one such dependent parent is 82 and one-half per cent of the worker's primary benefit. If there are two surviving parents, each gets 75 per cent.
Occasionally, too, a widower qualifies, but he likewise must be at least 62 and must show that he depended on his late wife for at least half his financial support.

YOUNGEST AUTHOR ever to write for the Department of Agriculture's Yearbook of Agriculture, "Outdoors USA," is John L. Sbarbaro III, 12, of Radnor, Pa. He made it with a diary he kept on a farm vacation trip to Oklahoma two years ago. John was elated at making the book, a guide for people who fancy the outdoors, but has a typical writer's complaint: "They sure cut my copy."

Widows, Orphans Eligible

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - Some five million survivors of deceased workers are drawing Social Security payments in this country.
The face value of the survivorship insurance program is said to range upwards of $700 billion. About 95 per cent of mothers and children in the nation have protection under it.
There was a time when the whole government burden for caring for dependent children fell upon out-and-out welfare programs. But this has changed.
In mid-1940, only 18,000 orphans under age 18 were drawing Social Security survivors' benefits. The total now is in the range of two million. Meantime, the number of orphans getting strictly welfare payments under the aid-to-dependent-children program has been slashed in half. (For other reasons, this latter program has grown, over-all.)
Social Security officials stress that maintaining Americans' incomes in old age is not just a matter of retirement benefits but is, crucially, a question of survivors' insurance for widows. They can get little other help than that provided by Social Security.
If these women have worked, they tend usually to have been "secondary earners" who have left the labor market at a fairly early stage.
Under present law, widows who are not disabled can begin drawing Social Security survivors' benefits as early as age 60. But if they apply for this payment before age 62, their benefits are somewhat reduced.
At 62, the widow of a worker who was properly insured under Social Security is entitled to 82 and one-half per cent of her husband's "primary benefit" - what he would have received if he had lived to retire at age 65.
If she decides to start collecting at 60, she gets only 71 and one-half per cent of her late husband's primary benefit. If she chooses age 61, she gets 77 per cent.
Of course, if the widow has an unmarried child under 18 or a disabled child who suffered the disability before age 18, she can begin getting survivors' benefits even earlier than age 60.
Social Security has another name for these, however - mothers' benefits. They amount to 75 per cent of her deceased husband's primary benefit. And, unless she has in her care a disabled child who qualifies under the law, the mothers' benefits stop when her youngest child reaches 18.
Thereafter she cannot resume collecting Social Security checks until she herself becomes 60 - provided also that she is not married at the time.
A widow aged 60 or older does not lose all survivors' benefits if she remarries. But, again, her payments may drop. Ordinarily entitled to 82 and one-half per cent of her husband's basic benefit if she waits until she is 62 to collect, she will find this percentage cut to 50 if she is remarried.
On the other hand, if she rates more on the basis of her new husband's Social Security record, she will get the higher amount.
When a worker dies, his parents can also collect survivors' benefits. To qualify, a parent has to be at least 62 and must have received at least half of his financial support from the deceased worker. The payment to one such dependent parent is 82 and one-half per cent of the worker's primary benefit. If there are two surviving parents, each gets 75 per cent.
Occasionally, too, a widower qualifies, but he likewise must be at least 62 and must show that he depended on his late wife for at least half his financial support.

Widows Fence Infuriates Neighbors

TICKFAW, La. (AP) — Four strands of barbed wire stretched across a dusty rural road in southeast Louisiana by a 65-year-old widow have infuriated neighbors, stymied sheriff's deputies and derailed the mailman.

Mrs. Maude Brock says the road belongs to her, has for 25 years, and that's the way it's going to stay. She adds, "I'm a damn good shot."

Two of her neighbors have taken exception. Gayle Rogers and J. W. Jenkins have filed charges of shooting with intent to kill and obstruction of a public road against the widow.

While they are mum on the shooting accusation, they say the fence, erected earlier this month, is plain enough. Rogers, owner of a gravel pit, says the fence makes his trucks detour to a route that is two miles longer and has turns that make life miserable for his drivers.

Mrs. Brock's barbed wire cuts off one route to several other houses.

Mrs. Brock contends her husband built the road and intended it to remain private. The Parish Police Jury, county governing body, has maintained the road, however, and under Louisiana law it now belongs to the public.

The widow says parish employees worked on the road behind her back and against her wishes, mostly while she was out of town.

Besides, she says, the secluded road is used for a "lover's lane, and I don't have to stand for that kind of thing."

The local postmaster has reported the fence to his superiors, saying it blocks a mail route. Rogers and Jenkins have had a frustrating go at the barbed wire through official channels.

First they went to the police juror elected from their district but claimed they got no satisfaction. The district attorney was called in and he said he would write a letter telling the widow to take the fence down. The letter brought no results.

Then they swore out the charges and the matter passed to the sheriff's office. Resolutely, the deputies moved to serve the warrants but found Mrs. Brock "sick in bed with the flu."

"She is supposed to come up to the office with her attorney when she gets well," a sheriff's office spokesman said this week.

Girl Scouts Hold Meeting

Girl Scout Troop No. 311 recently had as their guest Captain Herbert Jack Lloyd who talked with the girls about Vietnam. Captain Lloyd urged the girls to appreciate their teachers, preachers, leaders and friends who cared enough to be leaders and their trainers and explained the difference in the schools and homes here and there. He further explained that many Vietnamese girls the same age as these scouts (10 to 12) were used in the war by the enemy as carriers of secret messages from group to group in bicycle handles.

As the girls enjoyed an ice cream bar for refreshments, Capt. Lloyd explained that in Vietnam there is no ice cream or milk. The cows there are sick with tuberculosis and the people drink tea or water. He attributes much of the peoples small size to this fact. He explained about a pet project of a group of American individuals to furnish milk to a village there by furnishing a dairy. The cows were donated by the American Dairy Assn. and the feed by a leading feed company.

Various pictures and slides were shown the girls. Several of these were of Capt. Lloyd and other American soldiers distributing food and clothing to the Vietnamese people. To aid him in this work the girls brought clothing for him to take back with him.

Each year the scout troop take part in a service project and the girls are very interested in this war. Most of them do not understand it but they hear it everywhere and know that it has taken many of their brothers, uncles or cousins from home, so indirectly they are affected also.

The scouts were very interested in his medals or "badges" as they called them.

After the meeting all the girls wanted Capt. Lloyd's autograph. At the meeting with the leaders Mrs. Gail Snyard and Mrs. Gene Pendergraph, other guests were Mrs. Rufus Herndon III, Mrs. Kenneth Petre and Mrs. Paul McClellan.

SHOWBEAT

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—"Chappaqua" will be talked about. Already this film about a man's battle with drug addiction and alcoholism has been called, on the one hand, a masterpiece, and, on the other, a rich boy's whim.

As with most things, the truth lies somewhere in between. There are very few masterpieces these days. And, as for being a rich boy's whim, it may be the work of a rich boy, but it is no whim.

"It was an obsession," says Conrad Rooks, a 33-year-old with the face of a juvenile but the eyes of tired maturity. If there ever was a personal film, this is it. Rooks' obsession was to show what he had gone through, for he had been an alcoholic and a drug user for around 15 years. In a way, making "Chappaqua" was a catharsis for him, but he hopes it will do more.

"I want the younger people to see it," he says. "I think it will do some good. I know it will do some good—as long as I stay off drugs and alcohol myself and they know it."

His chances for staying off drugs and alcohol, he says, are "excellent." It has been five years now since he's had a drink, and the only drugs he has had in that period have been some peyote (he says it helps ease the strain of giving up alcohol) and three bad LSD trips.

Conrad Rooks

Rooks is a rich boy—or was. The death of his father, a cosmetic company executive, five years ago was what turned the tide for him, made him come to his senses and give up drugs and alcohol.

His childhood and adolescence had been wild. By the time he was 14, he had had alcoholic blackouts. At 15, he lived through his first bout of the DTs. He tried them all, once existed on little besides opium for six months.

There were some jobs during this period, some education, some travel, some dreams. Mostly, though it was a continual drunk. He tried to straighten himself out when a good friend, the heir to one of America's great fortunes, died in a New York flophouse with a needle in his arm.

But it wasn't until his father died that he could do it. At first, he went to Switzerland and took the 30-day "sleep cure"—but he woke from that one-month sleep with the same old cravings. Drunk, he flew to England and contacted a doctor in an attempt to get drugs. The doctor gave him some lithium, which helped him overcome his urges and,

Political Amateurs Warming Up

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1968 presidential race at this moment is a contest between professionals and amateurs, with the former letting the latter get the audience warmed up before they come on with their big act.

In short, they're playing it cool as long as they can although before the year is up they'll all probably be overheated.

The amateurs are Michigan's Republican Gov. George Romney and Minnesota's Democratic Sen. Eugene McCarthy. Neither has ever bid for the presidency before although both have been in politics quite a while, McCarthy longer than Romney.

Watching, perhaps amusingly, are the three old pros who seem to have the best chance: President Johnson and two Republicans, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

All three have been through the meat-grinder before. All three have had disappointments in their ambitions, an experience which is enough to make them realize eagerness for the presidency isn't enough and that tactics count.

While Romney and McCarthy talk their heads off, the three pros stay more or less mum as if deciding not to talk until they have to. None of the three has yet declared himself a candidate and Rockefeller says he won't be one.

From the standpoint of experience, Johnson and Nixon even have it on Rockefeller. Both won their party's nomination, at least once, Rockefeller tried for it twice, in 1960 and 1964, but didn't get it.

Johnson tried for it in 1960 but lost to John F. Kennedy who, in the election, beat Nixon. Johnson had to settle for the vice presidency that time. He got both the nomination and the presidency when he tried again in 1964.

Nixon's defeat by Kennedy looked like the end of the road for him. And he seemed washed up forever when he tried for the governorship of California in 1962 and lost there, too. But the bug that bit him meant it.

While Nixon generally backs Johnson on the war in Vietnam—proving he's no dove in this conflict—he has also been critical of the President. But mostly what he has said has been obvious or non-controversial.

He's not sticking his neck out this early and, although the pollsters put his chances for the nomination No. 1 among Republicans, he has refrained from calling himself a candidate.

This doesn't mean much, he hasn't said he will enter any of the presidential primaries but has listed those states whose primaries he would enter if he makes the decision to run. He'll announce it Feb. 1.

If he doesn't make a good showing in the primaries, he said, he will withdraw instead of fighting on to convention time next summer in Miami. But while he was saying all that he made tentative reservations in a Miami hotel at convention time for 100 rooms.

Rockefeller, whose standing in the polls is high, insists he is not a candidate and supports Romney. But he won't have that excuse for holding back if Romney does badly in the primaries.

Then the Republican who would seem best able to get the nomination away from Nixon would be Rockefeller. Mean-while he is not saving anything that can be used against him if he finally makes his bid.

In his State of the Union message to Congress this week—a bland, nonpolitical document—after a struggle with his will, he made it.

He went through most of his inheritance to make "Chappaqua." He shot in Mexico, Jamaica, India, Ceylon, Paris, New York, Los Angeles. He acts in it the thinks perhaps he might have been an actor years ago if he hadn't been a drunk and he directed it. The blame or credit goes exclusively to him.

Now he's full of plans. The major studios here are excited about him as a filmmaker and are interested in some of his ideas — one would have Michael P. O'Leary playing a hippie-turned-guru, another would have a girl (Julie Christie, hopefully) and boy and be set in India.

Rooks faces the future bravely. He no longer needs the crutches—drugs, alcohol—to get by. And a year ago he gave up cigarettes, too. "That," he says, "was the hardest to quit of all."

George W. Romney ... off and running

ROMNEY RESIGNS as vice chairman of the board and director of American Motors after winning Michigan's gubernatorial election in 1962.

First to announce his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, Gov. George W. Romney of Michigan is working hard toward that end. Ranked up front along with Nixon, Rockefeller and Reagan, Romney was being talked about as White House material as early as 1962 when he first ran in Michigan's gubernatorial race. A three-time winner as head of his state, the former American Motors president is seen in this special NEA News Visuals page of highlights during his public life.

VICTORIOUS Romney and wife, Lenore, acknowledge cheers of delegates to Michigan Republican state convention.

CAMPAIGNING Romney will slide down a fire pole or pitch hay at a county fair to get the vote. At right, with Mrs. Romney, he attends costume party on cruise to Virgin Islands last year.

Johnson seemed to be following the Nixon-Rockefeller policy of the less said the better until he has to.

He doesn't have to yet, since McCarthy isn't much of a menace to him and the Democratic convention in Chicago isn't until late August.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

When Polish-born Joseph Conrad, author of "Heart of Darkness," joined the English merchant marine in 1878 he could speak only a few words of English the language of which he became a master, says The World Almanac. It was a strange decision for Conrad to go to sea in that his family was without nautical tradition and his country without a seacoast.

BUSINESSMAN Romney, as president of American Motors, appeared before the Senate Antitrust Sub-committee in 1958 to protest the automotive Big Three and power of giant unions. Here he's with the late Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Where Else? Sales Tax or Transaction Tax?

Your editor was on a tight schedule yesterday but didn't miss an edition. I edited out the news desk early yesterday afternoon, drove to the Rock for a professional meeting, spent the night at the Lafayette Hotel, and came home this morning in time to write today's column. Pleasant weather both days — not a top in sight. . . . In mid January where else would this be but Arkansas?

Politicians beating the drums for an increase in the state sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent are merely trying to create a diversion that will distract the people's attention from the abuses that are widespread at the 3 per cent level.

Politicians talk about "lost revenue," pointing to the fact that Arkansas exempts industrial equipment and industrial supplies from sales and use tax. But Arkansas' industrial exemption is based on the law in Missouri, and, in fact, industrial exemption is practically universal.

As one who helped sponsor sales tax legislation back in the 1930's I find it necessary to remind the politicians that they have a lot of abuses to correct before there is any serious debate over increasing the rate to 4 per cent.

For one thing, the sales tax was originally enacted in March 1935 as a consumer's tax on the individual citizen. The consumer was guaranteed certain deductions and business was promised that the sales tax wouldn't be allowed to degenerate into a transaction tax — both guarantees being quickly forgotten.

The original Hall bill in 1935 set the tax rate at 2 per cent and exempted food, medicine, and clothing. In 1941 a money-hungry state government struck down these exemptions. And in 1957 the rate was increased to 3 per cent across the board.

Furthermore, the state has pressed the application of sales tax into every corner of business and industry except where stopped by court action. If you are a sharp citizen you know what happens when a consumer's tax is extended into business and industry. Your consumer tax is multiplied above its stated rate. Sales tax against business or industry is passed on to you in the form of higher prices for goods. Your supposed 3 per cent tax mushrooms into a transaction tax at an actual 6 per cent, 9 per cent, or what have you.

Back in 1933 and 1934 when I researched The Star's editorial campaign in behalf of the original sales tax bill I discovered some historical abuses in sales tax legislation and warned against them. One of the greatest of these was the degeneration of the sales tax into a transaction tax. I pointed out that the first nation to try a sales tax was Spain, but the sales tax developed into a transaction tax which pyramided to as much as 60 per cent of the original cost of an item — and Spain had to kill its sales tax program entirely.

Here's something we in Arkansas mean to look into. A citizen has the right to demand honesty of his politicians at the 3 per cent level before listening to propaganda about the need for a 4 per cent rate.

For all you know, you are talking about going from a present 6 or 9 per cent to 12 or 15 per cent — with Spain's 60 per cent tax as the eventual goal!

War, Street Riots Concern U.S. Voters

By JIM ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress members say Vietnam ranks as the No. 1 issue with voters they've talked to back home — but add the war was nearly overshadowed by rising anger over riots and crime. "People want crime in the streets stopped and they don't mean maybe," said Rep. Bob Sikes, D-Fla.

He and numerous other representatives and senators were responding to an Associated Press survey on what voter attitudes they found at home during their recent month-long recess.

Rep. Tom Rallsback, R-Ill., reported when he mentioned crime in a speech at Galesburg, Ill., a waitress took the floor away from him and angrily described how she'd been struck and robbed in what she thought was her safe neighborhood.

The anger over crime was listed by nearly all congressmen surveyed. And it was reflected when President Johnson's State of the Union appeal Wednesday night for stiffer anticrime measures brought more cheers from congressmen than any other proposal.

Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex., said he returned from home convinced the people want enactment of such legislation to be high on Congress' priority list.

"Vietnam is a depressing ball that hangs over everything," said Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla. "But crime and the riots are really more an issue than Vietnam."

As for the war, most congressmen said they found frustration and disillusionment at home — but a determination not to end the conflict without an honorable settlement.

"I ran into fewer 'invade North Vietnam and bomb them back into the stone age' people than those for negotiation," said Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind. "But the largest number are unhappy the war exists, would like to get it over with, but have few suggestions on how to do it."

Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., disagreed. "The majority of our people would like to move faster and get it over with," Poage said. "The doves are in the minority."

The congressmen also found strong feelings against Johnson's proposed tax increase, government spending and the activities of militant Negro leader Stokely Carmichael and French President Charles de Gaulle.

Said Rep. Jack Edwards, R-Ala.: "People can't understand why we continue to give De Gaulle gold for dollars and don't insist that France start paying its $6 billion World War I debt."

Men Are Complaining About Ever Increasing Rudeness of Women

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Are American women getting more discourteous?

A cynic might reply to this query by saying it is impossible. But I keep bumping into a lot of men lately who testily complain about the rudeness of women.

A recent unofficial poll taken among male hangers-on at a local office water cooler disclosed that four out of five felt that feminine impoliteness is on the increase.

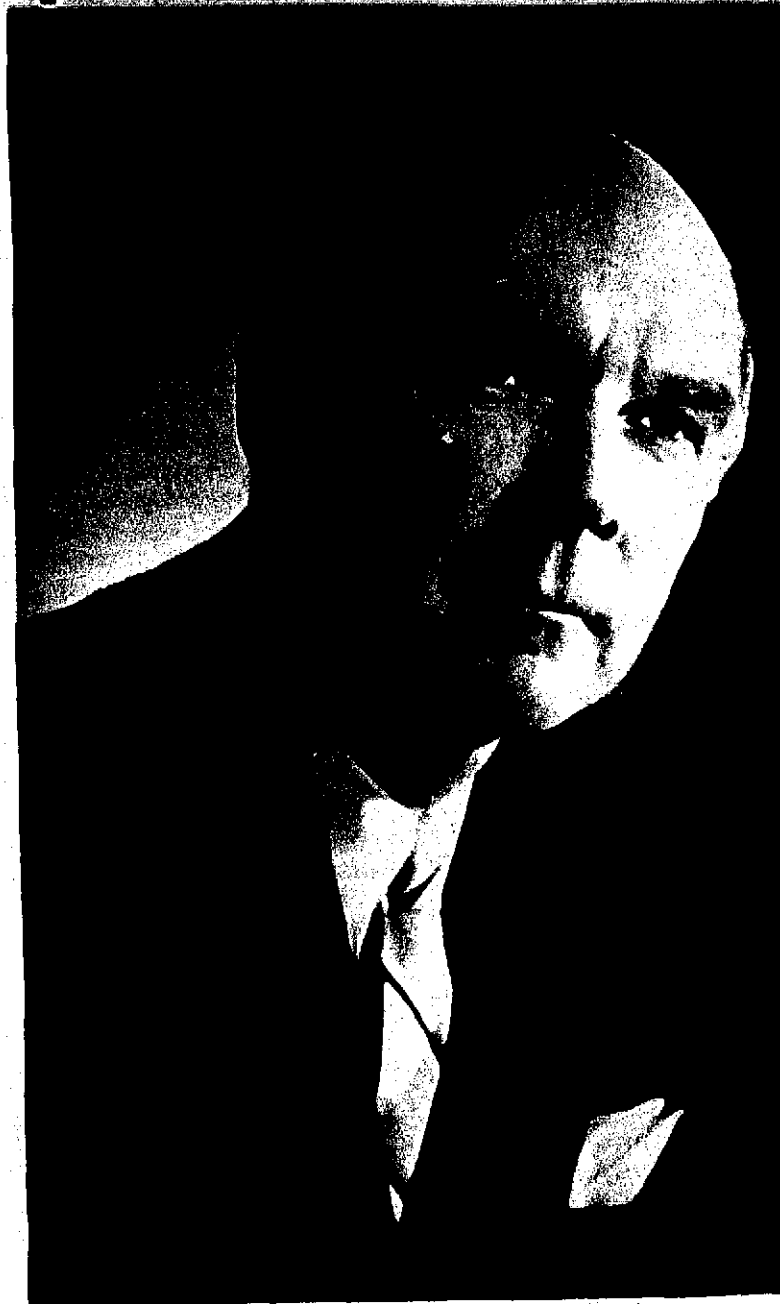

"I just got married last week, and I don't see anything at all wrong with women," said the lone dissenter.

The disillusioned majority, however, felt able to enumerate a number of things wrong with women.

Said male No. 1: "The main thing wrong with women is that there are too many of them. They've got us outnumbered. If there were half as many women as there are, they'd be only half the trouble that they are. It's all a matter of arithmetic."

Said male No. 2:

DR. MCFARLAND

For years Dr. Kenneth McFarland has been recognized as the Nation's most eloquent and effective exponent of what is commonly known as the "American System."

To his concept of basic Americanism he has given the label of "Progressive Conservatism." He wants to conserve constitutional government, to conserve free competitive enterprise, and to conserve individual freedom under both. He speaks here Feb. 1 at the Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Dr. McFarland declares that America is the land that "literally dumps the horn of plenty on the common man." But the system is not fool proof. It is not self-operating. It must be intelligently operated by people who understand it and have faith in it. Dr. McFarland describes the kind of people who are qualified to run the free enterprise vehicle, and shows how these qualifications make the individual successful under the system.

Dr. McFarland's speeches reflect the breadth and depth of his vast experience and thorough education. For more than two decades he has criss-crossed America until he has developed a deep appreciation of what it means to be an all-around American citizen. He has come to know and admire the peculiar strengths of each section of this great land and he is at home in all of them. A nation wide survey showed Dr. McFarland is literally and actually America's foremost public speaker, and he was rated first in each general section of the country as well as amassing the highest total score. Dr. McFarland is Guest Lecturer for several of the nation's largest corporations and trade associations, and formerly served in the same capacity for The Reader's Digest. He does as many independent engagements each year as his responsibilities permit.

Dr. McFarland will be our Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet speaker on Thursday evening, February 1, 1968 at the Coliseum. Tickets are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office and a special ticket committee, headed by Jim Lockhart, of the country as well as amassing the highest total score.

LBJ Aiming for Tax Hike by April 1

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration appears to be shooting for an April 1 effective date for its proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge on individuals but a retroactive Jan. 1 date for corporations.

This possible schedule emerged Thursday in the wake of the new budget figures — spending of $186 billion and an $8 billion deficit — contingent on the tax boost for the next fiscal year. The figures were revealed by President Johnson in his State of the Union message.

Administration officials declined to say what effective dates they would seek in appealing anew for adoption of the surcharge but the April-January combination reportedly is the most likely possibility.

The dates are expected to be disclosed officially Monday when the House Ways and Means Committee reopens public hearings on the surcharge bill. But in any case, the committee chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., says he wants a close look at the budget before he decides whether to support a tax increase.

Government witnesses will base their appeal for higher taxes on defense of the dollar abroad and dampening inflation at home. One key source said foreign countries consider the tax bill "the pi bol of fiscal responsibility." In planning the new budget, the administration is figuring on $3 billion in revenues from the tax package during the current fiscal year which ends June 30 and $12.9 billion during the next fiscal year.

This refinement of the figures the President outlined includes not only revenues from the surcharge but also from a speedup of corporate tax collections and the postponement of excise-tax

Charges SBA Allowed Disaster Funds to Pay Off High Interest Loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Rep. H. R. Gross charges the Small Business Administration allowed a prominent Alaska Democrat to pay off a high-interest bank loan with bargain-rate federal disaster funds.

The SBA acknowledged Thursday that details of the loan to Democrat L. Donald Pruhs — as provided to The Associated Press by Iowa Gross — "are not inaccurate."

Pruhs is a member of Alaska's Democratic Central Committee and until a month ago was chairman of the central committee for the Alaskan Interior. He also is the employer of the state's Democratic national committeeman, Alex Miller.

The $894,000 loan to Pruhs' 38-room Golden Nugget Motel, damaged by the Fairbanks flood last August, was spotted by Robert M. Weinberg, a Budget examiner, and reported to his superiors.

The AP reported Monday that while Pruhs got nearly all the money he requested — the largest disaster loan in Fairbanks — the $1.2-million request by Republican Gov. Walter J. Hickel was cut in half. Hickel owns a motel across the street from the Golden Nugget.

Cong Buildup Indicates No Intention of Plan to Scale Down the War

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say a massive buildup of Communist forces along South Vietnam's northern frontier may be evidence North Vietnam has no intention of scaling down the war in the near future.

U.S. military authorities in Saigon report an estimated 35,000 Communist regulars are massed in the buffer zone separating the two Vietnams. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, has predicted "a resurgence of enemy initiatives" around the end of the month.

U.S. policy-makers said Thursday that North Vietnam's military actions are considered by President Johnson and his advisers an important indication of North Vietnam's real intentions in its present peace offensive.

North Vietnam's stated price for peace talks is an unconditional end to U.S. bombing. Johnson's principal price for ending the bombing, officials said, is a firm indication from Hanoi, either by action in the D. Mills, D-Ark., says he wants a close look at the budget before he decides whether to support a tax increase.

Johnson has long since ruled out what officials describe as a "one-sided talk and fight" procedure — a situation in which the U.S. would stop the bombing and join in peace talks while the war otherwise continued unabated.

The diplomatic front now finds Washington and Hanoi apparently engaged in long-distance exploratory negotiations through intermediaries, each evidently trying to find out if there is any concession to be won in the other's position.

The United States has reportedly received word through these channels that North Vietnam would be prepared to start talks in a few days after the bombing was halted. One of President Johnson's conditions for stopping the bombing in order to get discussions going is that the talks should begin promptly.

Another condition, as Johnson put it in his State of the Union message Wednesday night, is that the talks should give reasonable hopes of being productive. To satisfy themselves on this point, U.S. officials are asking Hanoi what issues would be on the agenda.

But the crucial point from the American point of view is military de-escalation by the Communists in response to ending the bombing. And on this point Johnson and his advisers evidently want answers to two questions: Would North Vietnam be prepared to stop sending reinforcements to Communist forces in the South? Would all attacks from North Viet-

But the crucial point from the American point of view is military de-escalation by the Communists in response to ending the bombing. And on this point Johnson and his advisers evidently want answers to two questions: Would North Vietnam be prepared to stop sending reinforcements to Communist forces in the South? Would all attacks from North Viet-name forces in the buffer zone be stopped?

This issue, judged by the public positions of the two sides, is deadlocked at present because Hanoi spokesmen have said publicly the United States is responsible for aggression against North Vietnam and has no right to deny military response on their part to ending that aggression.

Coinciding with the battle reports were a series of Viet Cong terroristic attacks. In one, a day-long mine on the doorstep of a South Vietnamese army headquarters in the Mekong Delta spewed hundreds of deadly steel pellets into a nearby market place, killing 14 Vietnamese and wounding 38.

Monsoon clouds over North Vietnam lifted enough Thursday to permit the heaviest visual bomb raids north of Hanoi in two weeks, although U.S. pilots have been making radar runs. Two Air Force F4 Phantoms were lost, due to "unknown causes," during the raids north of Hanoi, the U.S. Command said, and the four pilots were listed as missing.

Another Phantom, after a raid on the Bac Giang power plant 28 miles northeast of Hanoi, fired a missile up the tailpipe of a MIG17 and another Phantom crew saw the Red jet crash, the command reported. It was the 105th Communist interceptor claimed by American pilots.

The U.S. Command in a delayed announcement said another Phantom was lost Tuesday due to "unknown causes" in North Vietnam's southern panhandle and one of the two pilots was rescued.

The U.S. losses brought to 700 the total number of American war planes announced down in combat over North Vietnam in the bombing campaign, now nearly three years old.

U.S. pilots flew a total of 112 missions against the Communist North Thursday.

Military sources in Saigon reported an unidentified plane exploded at least one rocket today just outside the U.S. Special Forces Camp at Khe Sanh, in the northwest corner of South Vietnam, but there were no casualties or damage to the camp.

Investigators were examining fragments from the rocket in an attempt to identify the plane. Since no North Vietnamese planes have ever been known to cross into South Vietnamese skies, there was speculation that the incident was another accident or mistake by a U.S. or South Vietnamese pilot.

East of Khe Sanh, in the first heavy fighting along the northern frontier in nearly a week, some 400 U.S. Marines with a big assist from artillery and helicopter gunships, reportedly wiped out a force of some 200 North Vietnamese Thursday in a six-hour battle.

Many of the 182 North Vietnamese regulars reported killed were apparently victims of the big American guns and helicopters that pounded the hemmed-in Communists as they tried to break out.

Eight Marines were reported killed and 39 wounded. Some apparently were hit by Red artillery fire from caves and gunpits inside the DMZ.

It was the first heavy fighting in nearly a week along South Vietnam's northern frontier, where the Marine command expects the North Vietnamese to launch another big push before the start Jan. 27 of the one-week cease-fire promised by the Viet Cong for Tet.
